Suburban trains from the city (Southern Cross or Flinders Street stations).

Caulfield is a major station on the Cranbourne, Dandenong, Frankston and Pakenham Lines.

Leave the station following the signs for Monash University crossing the road then follow the red lines for about 280 metres to the “MADA” Building G

There was some building construction works being done in the area of Building G in early August

Note: Public Transport in Melbourne uses a “tap on/off” plastic card called a MYKI You can buy a myki ticket at main stations, at 7-Eleven stores.

Casual tickets may cost about $6 per day.

See <http://www.metrotrains.com.au/>

There is also a tram service between Caulfield and the City. Trams are known as Yarra Trams and the route is 3 or 3A which run from Melbourne University to Caulfield.

See www.yarratrams.com.au

The LSAA is not involved in booking hotels for the Conference. A suggestion for Interstate and Overseas visitors travelling by plane is to search for hotels near Southern Cross train station. This is the terminus for the SkyBus express bus from the airport ($19 each way, very regular service from outside the arrivals level, tickets at airport pickup points). See www.skybus.com.au
